1. OC was contacted with respect to the Agency PERT capability and indicated that [   ] in ODP was the "expert" as far as they were concerned.   STAT

2. [   ] explained the current capability within the Agency: STAT

                                                                    STAT

3. None of these PERT packages has been implemented with any but the most fundamental features and none would be classified as "user friendly." However, ODP has a project underway (SPRINT) for OC which will provide a "user friendly" interface and incorporate many other features (duration balancing, resource leveling, calendar adjustment, etc.). This is targeted for delivery in June 82 and will probably incorporate the PAC3 package.
